Consular Section Now Accepting Credit Cards for Certain Consular Fees

The Consular Section of the U.S. Embassy in Santo Domingo is pleased to announce that, effective immediately, applicants may now pay certain consular fees via credit cards. These fees include payments for U.S. passport services, notarial services, fingerprints, and fees related to the local filing of petitions with the U.S. Citizenship Services office. The credit card transaction will occur here at the consular section's cashier window (Window 12). Applicants should make sure they receive a receipt of the transaction from the consular section's cashier.

The consular section is authorized to accept the following credit cards: Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Novus/Discover, Diners, and Visa/Master Card Purchasing cards.

Please note that the $100 fee for a non-immigrant visa (including K visas) must still be paid at any Banco Popular branch in the Dominican Republic. The $10 "Official Verification of your Record Fee" required for immigrant visa applicants and K visa applicants must also be paid at Banco Popular. These fees cannot be paid here at the consular section.
